Professional Expertise

As principal broker and managing partner, Bill leads all Cushman & Wakefield/Commerce office divisions in creating quality, long-term relationships with clients, establishing themselves as the Intermountain region's leading commercial real estate service provider.

Bill co-founded Commerce Properties in 1979, and has since led the once small group through multiple mergers and market changes, including a determined strategy to maintain business and full employment during 2008's challenging financial crisis. He continues to manage the company's licensed brokers/agents in their commercial real estate transactions. His experience and commitment to the company has earned him devoted respect and trust from fellow brokers, staff, clientele, industry leaders and business partners.
