Professional Expertise

Brieona Pappas is an Associate with Cushman & Wakefield/Commerce, serving all of Summit County and Salt Lake City. She creates targeted marketing strategies for client properties, building robust client service models for her team in Park City. Her creative thoughts, charismatic personality, and diligent work ethic precedes everything she does. Working with industry veteran Tim Anker, the two have broadened the scope of their business by targeting new, exciting ventures and projects, while ensuring client satisfaction of each service they provide.

Brieona's seven years of experience in commercial real estate is complimented by her education in Business Finance and Economics at the University of Utah. She understands local market patterns and has a wide professional network, making her adept at identifying the financial interests of her clients and the best opportunities within the market to satisfy their operational and financial goals. For Brieona, the client comes first. She responds to them quickly, ensuring their needs are met. Never one to standstill, she is always striving to exceed the expectations of her clients and colleagues.
